NEW YEAR'S DAY.

How it Was Observed in Cincinnati and Elsewhere.

THE LINCOLN CLUB GIVES AN ELABORATE RECEPTION.

One of the Most Expensive Affairs of the Kind Ever Given in This Country—How the Day Was Observed in Washington and New York.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 2.—The New Year was ushered in here by the ringing of bells, tooting of whistles and the explosion of fire-crackers and the blowing of tin horns. From midnight until 1 o'clock each tried to vie with the other in making the most noise. The good old custom of paying calls on the first day of the new year has been entirely given up, and there was but little for the feminine half of society to do, while man creation had a good time at the club, business being almost entirely dispensed with.

NEW LINCOLN CLUB HOUSE.

In the way of club entertainments the Lincoln club, one of the leading bodies in this city advocating the principles of the Republican party, made extra efforts to receive its members. A reception was given from 2:30 to 7 p. m., beautiful invitations having been previously sent out through the postoffice to its members. Feasting was the one important object, and such an elaborate menu was probably never partaken of before in this city. It was such as only millionaires indulge in.

Fully $4,000 was spent in securing the grandest games that can be played, and it was the greatest dinner ever given in the city, if not in the west.

Of course the large crowd present prevented such a possibility as sitting, and the riches of the collation were served to the guests standing.

The club had gone to great expense in arranging for the decoration of the large hall in which the spread was made, and such a collection of lovely china and valuable silverware have been rarely looked upon.

The first on the beautiful and artistic menu card was genuine Lynn Haven Bay on the half-shell, the most delicious of oysters. Seven thousand were secured for the purpose.

Next came a veritable piece de resistance, nothing more nor less than one of a soup from the far-famed Chinese bird's nest, of which all Americans have read with varying stomachic feelings since early childhood. The nests themselves do not figure in the case, but the gelatinous substance with which they are fastened to the rocks. As a basis, a clear soup is thoroughly made, after which the bird's nests are added, and the soup is flavored with ginseng and cinnamon. Of this there were sufficient for 1,000 people. The nests arrived yesterday.

Fish in the way of a number of magnificent specimens of Kennebec salmon, were jellied and garnished with pistachio nuts, and were served on plates which cost $300 each. The piece was a compound dish. The base, forty-two inches long, was ornamented with jelly, representing the sea, from which the royal fish was taken. In it was jellied lobsters, crayfish and prongs. The second dish stood fourteen inches above the first, on four columns. This was thirty-six inches long, and on it rested the salmon. Around were arranged small patties of oysters, clams and shrimps. The oysters were scalloped and fried, all of that splendid brand, the Saddle-rock.

First in the game class was deer, the Rocky mountain black-tailed, the king of his tribe. There were 250 pounds of the choicest parts served with a dressing of currant jelly and sherry wine.

Who has not read of the exciting boar hunts of royalty, but how few have had an opportunity to try the game for whose killing crowned heads risk so much. But this club procured two heads direct from Wurttemberg, of that princely covey, and presented them dressed with truffles and port wine.

Six dozen canvass backed ducks were served with celery, cooked in the most careful manner. This was followed by eighty dozen jacksnipe. Each had a small slice of bacon across the breast, and were dived in sherry wine.

Diamond-back terrapin and deviled crabs played a prominent figure. Then came another new dish—filled calf heads. They were served with mushrooms and sherry. Following this was another surprise in the way of antelope tongues, garnished with chicken liver patties. After this different varieties of salads.

The liquid refreshments consisted of egg-nog and Roman punch, and the concluding chapters of cheese, coffee and assorted fruits. No one except members were admitted.

At Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The reception at the White House began at 11 a. m., the customary hour, and the usual programme was observed. The president and Mrs. Cleveland were assisted in the reception by Miss Bayard, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Endicott, Mrs. W. B. , Mrs. Vilas, Mrs. Dickinson and Miss .

The members of the cabinet and the diplomatic corps were received at 11 o'clock. At stated intervals between that hour and 12:30 the president received in their order the chief justice and associated justices of the supreme court, senators and representatives in congress, officers of the army, the navy and the marine corps, department officials and associations of veterans.

At 12:35 the reception of citizens began. The announcement had been made that the public reception would close at 2 o'clock, but it extended an hour beyond that time. Meantime those who were assisting the president and Mrs. Cleveland had withdrawn and returned to their homes, where receptions were held later in the afternoon.

Admiral and Mrs. Porter were at home after 12 o'clock. As is customary, the naval and marine corps officers, called after their reception at the executive mansion and Secretary Whitney's.

New Year's Eve in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—New Year's eve was celebrated in the customary noisy and hilarious way in this city. The streets were crowded with boys and girls, men and women, blowing tin horns, beating drums and uttering discordant cries. The tumult was especially great in lower Broadway, and around Trinity church, where chimes were played at midnight.

During the evening the usual Methodist watch meetings were held. Herr Most's admirers held a meeting to celebrate the tenth year of his paper, Der Freiheit. Those present wore red ribbons and red socks, and Herr Most made a red-hot speech, prophesying happier returns of the day in the good Anarchist times of the future.

At midnight all the bells in the city and whistles in the harbor rang and blew, and everybody that was on the streets shouted welcome to the new year.

THE ANARCHISTS WIN.

A Master in Chancery Decides That They Can Hold Their Meetings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Master in Chancery Windes has made a finding in the Arbeiter Bund case, and reported to Judge Tuley. He holds that the position of the Anarchists when they claimed that the police had no power to prohibit their meetings was sound, and that the city authorities could not claim any discretion in the matter, as the right to assemble is a constitutional one, and must be preserved. In the matter of issuing an injunction, however, he recommended that the chancellor do not interfere. In the first place, the meeting that the police were to be enjoined from prohibiting was to have been held on December 23, a date that has now gone by, and, secondly, he thought that in cases of this kind the remedy lay at common law.

It is the rule that chancery courts only have jurisdiction when there is no remedy at common law, or when property rights are in danger of being sacrificed by a delay. None of these elements enter into this case, in the opinion of the master, as, if the police break up meetings, without cause, they can be mulcted in damages, and the only property interest at stake is the rent of the hall, which can be recovered back. The rule, the master thinks, is that the police cannot interfere with the meeting until some overt act has been committed, neither can the law give the Anarchists relief until the city authorities have overridden their rights.

THE STEAMER BRISTOL.

The Burned Vessel is a Complete Wreck.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 2.—The steamer Bristol is a complete wreck. Only the upper part of her hull is above the water, surrounded by the partly burned wheel house. The frame work of the walking beam is nearly all burned away and the beam is kept in place by the connecting rods. The port wheel house is leaning badly and may keel over at any moment. Capt. Waters is at work upon her with his wrecking schooner Young American, which is alongside, and he will try to recover the safe and other valuables. Her beams have all been burned away in consequence of which she has spread apart badly, and will probably soon split in two.

Two steamers worked on the hull throwing four streams the entire night, but left in the morning, although smoke was still issuing from the ruins of the steamer. Supervisor Pierce says the Bristol was valued at $500,000, this valuation including furniture and equipments. The insurance on her amounts to but $300,000, leaving a loss of $200,000. Her hull is of no value, and Mr. Pierce says the old iron, if saved, will not pay the cost of her removal from the dock. The work of removing her will be begun as soon as the insurance inspectors have adjusted the loss. The insurance is held by Boston companies.

Gold Fever Breaks Out in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—An old time mining excitement is in full blast in southern California and Arizona as the result of recent discoveries. Two Mexicans brought into Yuma a large quantity of pure gold, which they said they had obtained in southern California, about one hundred miles from Yuma. They had been prospecting in a locality that was abandoned only recently by hostile Indians, who had kept miners out of the country for some years. The Mexicans said the gold was easily worked, and they would have stayed there longer and brought out more if their provisions had lasted. Their story set everybody in Yuma crazy with the gold fever, and a rush to the new mine has begun. The river boats are crowded, and every possible conveyance is being fitted up to take miners to the diggings.

An Escaped Bald Knobber Recaptured.

OZARK, Mo., Jan. 2.—John Matthews, one of the escaped Bald Knobbers, was captured last night a few miles out of the city and returned to the jail. Deputy Marshal James Rhodes met him in the road, and recognizing him, ordered him to throw up his hands and escorted him back to the city. Matthews claims that the rescuing party were all strangers. William Bedford, one of the train robbers who got away with the Bald Knobbers, surrendered to-day, saying that he had nothing to eat since his escape.

Destitution on Turk's Island.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The steamer Dorian, from Kingston, Jamaica, reports that great destitution exists on Turk's Island, owing to the terrible effects of the September hurricane, which destroyed 300 houses, wrecked several vessels, killed numbers of people, and destroyed a large part of the salt, which forms the staple article of commerce and means of livelihood of the inhabitants. Many persons have perished of starvation, and many more must do so unless aid is received from abroad.

1888 AND 1889.

Fourteen Governors Write on the Subject,

AND REVIEW THE EVENTS OF THE PAST YEAR.

They Briefly Consider the Prospects For the Present Year, Which Has a Bright Future Before It According to Each Executive Officer's Statement—The States and Territories Represented.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 2.—The Pittsburgh Volksblatt this morning publishes autograph letters from fourteen governors of some of the more prominent states and territories in the Union, reviewing the events of the closing year, and briefly considering the prospects for the year 1889. Governor Taylor, of Tennessee, speaks of the prosperity of the state, and closes: "The new year finds us on top of a rolling wave of prosperity that is sure and rapidly sweeping Tennessee to the front of the best states of the Union."

GOV. R. L. TAYLOR.

Governor Alva Adams, of Colorado, says 1888 has been the most prosperous year in Colorado's history. The population has increased over 25 per cent., the assessed wealth 20 per cent. The new year promises even greater gains. He invites new comers to "Come and aid us in building up the model state of the Union here upon the crest of the continent."

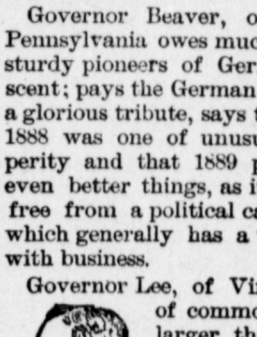

ALVA ADAMS.

Governor John M. Thayer, of Nebraska, sends the sentiment: "It is a grand thought, that the natives of other countries, who are subjects of sovereigns there, can come here and be themselves sovereigns."

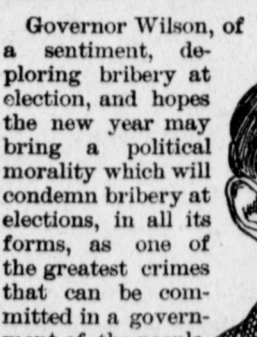

JOHN M. THAYER.

Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, says Pennsylvania owes much to her sturdy pioneers of German descent; pays the German element a glorious tribute, says the year 1888 was one of unusual prosperity and that 1889 promises even better things, as it will be free from a political campaign which generally has a tendency to interfere with business.

GOV. BEAVER.

Governor Lee, of Virginia, says activity of common carriers has been larger than ever before, and the rapid development of Virginia's great resources points to a new era of prosperity for the old commonwealth. Gov. McGill, of Minnesota, says that Minnesota is entitled to rank among the great and rich states, and that its industries are by no means confined to agricultural products. With its resources as yet scarcely developed, the future of Minnesota can hardly be estimated.

GOV. LEE.

Governor Wilson, of West Virginia, sends a sentiment, deploring bribery at election, and hopes the new year may bring a political morality which will condemn bribery at elections, in all its forms, as one of the greatest crimes that can be committed in a government of the people. Governor Perry, of Florida, says Florida is making marvelous advancement materially, morally, educationally, and extends a hearty welcome to all good immigrants, asking no questions as to politics or religion.

GOV. WILSON.

Governor Royal C. Taft, of Rhode Island, says there is a feeling of confidence in the future prosperity of the industries of his state. "Growing largely from the result of the National election, giving assurance that the principles which have so favored National growth are to remain substantially as they now are," Gov. Riggs, of Delaware, says the state is prosperous and happy, and that the contentment and happiness of the nation depends on the moral and religious education of the masses which is making progress everywhere.

GOV. TAFT.

Governor Gray, of Indiana, writes on Christmas, and speaks of the beneficial influences of the general observation of the day.

Gov. Moonlight, of Wyoming, condemns the wholesale gouging up of homestead lands, and makes a strong plea for the principle of "Land for the landless." He advises most rigid economy, even at this late day, touching public lands, and to them sacredly for actual bona fide settlement.

GEN. MOONLIGHT.

Governor Eugene Semple, of Washington Territory, sends a glowing pen picture of the territory's advantages, and believes that she will be the richest commonwealth on the Pacific coast in ten years from now. She is qualified to enter the Union, he says, and demands to be admitted without other conditions than are prescribed by the constitution of the United States.

HON. EUGENE SEMPLE.

BOTH KNOCKED OUT.

Mitchell and Kilrain Prevented From Sparring in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—Mitchell and Kilrain were knocked out last night by a hostile public sentiment, which developed in the form of a detail of police who had instructions to stop the sparring. The laws of Missouri prohibit prize fighting and boxing, but they have been liberally construed for the local pugilists, and a fight to a finish in public twice a week is about the usual average.

A moral wave suddenly swept over the community the moment it was announced that Kilrain and Mitchell would appear here. The newspapers called on the police commissioners to suppress the exhibition, and evidence was forthcoming to the effect that a mob had organized and rioting would result if the pugilists were allowed to appear. The mandate to stop the exhibition was then issued.

LAST SAD RITES.

The Funeral of Mrs. General Schofield Completely Arranged.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Schofield have been completed. The simple and beautiful Episcopal rites will be administered over the remains at the Richmond flats this evening by the Rev. Dr. James A. Harrold, of the Church of the Holy Cross, in the presence of the family and immediate friends. Of the family there will be present Gen. Schofield, his daughter, Mrs. Andrews and her husband, Lieut. Andrews, Mrs. Carling, widow of the late Col. Carling and sister of Mrs. Schofield. The remains will be taken on the 10 o'clock train to New York and thence over the West Shore road to West Point, and will be interred in the cemetery by the side of Gen. Schofield's eldest son. The members of the family and Gen. Schofield's personal staff, Lieut. Bliss, Sawyer and Pitcher will accompany the remains to West Point.

Official News From Hayti.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The secretary of state has received a large mail from the United States minister to Hayti, dated December 18, containing information as to the condition of affairs in that island, but making no mention of the arrival of the American vessels, Galena and Yantic. Among the dispatches is a copy of the decree issued on the 10th inst. by the Legitimate government closing all of the northern ports—St. Marc, Gouliere, Port de Paix and Cape Haytian—to foreign commerce provisionally. The rights of changing ports granted to Grand Saline and Port Liberty are suppressed. Mention is made in the dispatches of a mysterious crew that arrived at Port-au-Prince on the steamship Arron. There seemed to be evidence of a plot to carry the Haytian Republic out of Port under cover of night, but it was frustrated by the vigorous action of the authorities. Dispatches from Admiral Luce were received at the navy department.

End of a Celebrated Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—All the parties interested in the Lindauer case were again assembled in Judge Prendergast's court Monday morning to participate in the final act and closing scene of one of the most remarkable litigations that ever occupied a month's time of several courts. The final act was nothing less than the offer of a settlement by Lindauer Brothers & Company of forty cents on the dollar, such compromise to extend to the unsecured or merchandise, as well as the judgment creditors. The offer was made in open court and was accepted, and that probably ends the whole business, and there has been much ado about nothing.

A Valuable Inheritance Discovered.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Frank Chase, of Springfield, has just been notified that he is one of the heirs to an immense estate in Pike county, Kentucky, consisting of 70,000 acres of mineral land. The other heirs are a granddaughter of Gen. Thomas Marshall, of Kentucky, and Mrs. Judge Carale, of Chicago. A New York syndicate wishing to buy the land made the discovery.

A Distillery Seized.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The old Sycamore distillery of B. K. Johnston, at East Coldenham, near this city, has been seized by Deputy Collector Durkin. The seizure was made because of the discovery of great quantities of apple whisky hidden away on the premises of which no returns to the government had been made. Johnston has confessed.

Carrying the New Law Into Effect.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 2.—Under the new law ratified at the November election Governor Luce has decided to nominate Theodore C. Sherwood, of Plymouth, for state commissioner of banking.

A Year's Arrival of Immigrants.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—During the year 1888, 383,595 immigrants were landed at Castle Garden, an increase of 1,977 over the previous year.

KENTUCKY SECOND.

Capital Invested in New Enterprises for the South During the Past Year.

The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record, in its annual review of the South's industrial record, says that the capital represented by new mining and manufacturing enterprises organized in 1888 was $168,800,000, divided as follows: Alabama, $29,431,000; Kentucky, $28,800,000; Texas, $17,954,000; Georgia, 14,205,000; Virginia, $14,774,000; Tennessee, $11,159,000; Maryland, $10,670,000; West Virginia, $10,114,000; Arkansas, $8,483,000; North Carolina, $7,359,000; Louisiana, $6,356,000; South Carolina, $4,813,000; Florida, $4,731,000; Mississippi, $1,968,000.

During 1888 there were organized 3,618 new enterprises, against 2,430 in 1887 and 1,575 in 1886, a total in three years of 8,623, in addition to which there were hundreds of small enterprises, such as grist mills, etc., not counted.

Reviewing the progress of the South since 1880, the record shows that in that time 20,000 miles of railroad have been built, and that over $700,000,000 has been spent in building new roads and improving old ones.

In 1880 the South made 397,301 tons of pig iron, and in 1889 it will produce about 1,800,000 tons.

In 1880 there were 6,048,571 tons of coal mined in the South, against 16,476,785 tons in 1888.

Cotton mills have increased from 180, with 15,222 looms and 713,989 spindles in 1880, to over 300 mills, with 38,000 looms and 1,800,000 spindles. The value of cotton goods made in the South in 1888 was nearly $50,000,000, against $21,000,000 in 1880. There are now about 160 cottonseed oil mills, with about $12,000,000 invested, against 40 mills in 1880.

The value of the South's agricultural products for 1888 was $800,000,000, against $557,100,000 in 1879, and the live stock is now estimated at $575,000,000, against $391,400,000 in 1878. The production of grain last year was 626,315,000 bushels, against 431,078,430 bushels in 1878.

While there were more business failures the past year than in 1887 yet the general liabilities were about $10,000,000 less.

The Comptroller of the Currency has authorized the organization of the Lincoln National Bank of Stanford, Ky., with a capital of $200,000.

The South makes a splendid showing for the past year in the way of industrial enterprises, and it is gratifying to Kentuckians to know that the Commonwealth stands second in the amount of capital invested.

The Republicans are not going to have smooth sailing for their Senate tariff bill judging from late reports from the seat of war. "The bill was framed for campaign purposes," says the Enquirer correspondent, "and answered that purpose very well. Since the election, however, a number of Senators have, it is said, served notice on those having charge of it that they could not vote for the bill unless it is so modified as to meet their views. One of the first was Senator Manderson, and Senator Sherman was not long in declaring his objection. The first was opposed to the reduction in the sugar schedule. These gentlemen have been reinforced by Senator Stanford, of California. He is quoted as having said:

"I can not vote for this bill as it stands, and unless there is a radical change made about sugar I shall throw what influence I can command with the Democrats against the bill. Whether I can defeat it or not remains to be seen, but I think I can. Those who have had the handling of this measure have not acted in a spirit of conciliation calculated to heal the differences of opinion. On the contrary, they have run in a high-handed manner, which I for one will not submit to."

The Democratic Senators should present a solid front and knock out the Republicans on their own ground.

There'll be Fun.

[New York Sun.]

If Thomas C. Platt goes into the Cabinet there will be fun.

If Thomas C. Platt doesn't go into the Cabinet there will be more fun.

If James G. Blaine goes into the Cabinet there will be lots of fun.

If James G. Blaine doesn't go into the Cabinet there will be no end of fun.

So, perhaps, before long,

We may be happy yet,

You bet.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

MAYS LICK.

Waller Small was on our streets Saturday and was warmly greeted by his many friends. Christmas has come and nothing usual occurred. Only one darkey shot and three sent to jail.

The colored folks—Baptist and Methodist—each had Christmas trees, and many valuable presents were placed on them for friends.

The Mayslick Colored Brass Band gave an oyster supper last Saturday.

Prof. Milton Johnson, after spending Christmas with his father's family and friends in Bracken County, returned Saturday evening, ready for school Monday.

J. A. Jackson sold a wagon-load of Christmas toys, and has a cart-load left. He says they have to be sold for whatever they will bring, regardless of cost. Give him a call at the closing out sale of great bargains.

Ambrose Benz, one of our former village boys, but now in business in Mt. Sterling, was with us during the holidays.

Rev. Mr. Tindler, the new pastor of the Christian Church, will be with us next Sunday. He is said to be an able preacher.

The "Great Republic" given by the public schools at their building Friday evening, December 21, surpassed all expectations. Long before the appointed hour of opening, the principal's large room was packed with as orderly and appreciative an audience as ever assembled in Mason County. The exercises were all of the most interesting and profitable character. Professor Johnson and his assistant, Miss Warder, were in their usual jovial mood. The little folks never looked better and were happy and busy. They spoke with boldness and sang our National anthem with the spirit of true patriots. While all acted their parts to perfection, special mention might be made of Misses Mary Warder, as the "Goddess," Mamie Yancey, as "Soother," Annie Yancey, as the "Girl of '78," and Mary Myall as the "Belle of '88." The recitations of Misses Mary Mitchell, Julia Myall, Scott Laytham, Fannie Laytham, Alice Fox and Masters, John Law-will and Stanley Hoffman were especially good. Harry Yancey, as "Uncle Sam," John Wilson, as "Uncle Jonathan," Edwin Matthews, as the "Red Man," Carl Wheeler, as "Pat," Oathy Benz, as "Dutchey," and Henry Forman as the "Black German," were good characters and well rendered.

SARDIS.

All that was mortal of Mrs. Virginia White was laid to rest in Shannon cemetery on Friday, the 28th ultimo, after an appropriate funeral sermon by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Anderson, Miss Nancy Bland presiding at the organ.

After the rendition of that thrilling and familiar hymn, "I Would Not Live Alway," the Reverend Doctor in drawing her private life and personal characteristics threw upon the canvas in bold outline a series of pictures which appealed to the deepest emotions of his weeping hearers. His peroration was specially touching and eloquent, closing with the expressive words:

"None knew her but to love her,

None named her but to praise."

The writer knew her well, and that a more exemplary woman in all the relations of life—wife, mother, friend, neighbor, relative—never lived, and presented a more quiet, cheerful, admirable management of her household. Young people were her delight, and she was never happier than when her house was filled with them—clever young men and clever young women all calling her affectionately "Grandma White."

She was in her eighty-first year. Six children survive—her—Colonel Sam White, of Lexington, Mo.; Mr. A. O. White and Mrs. Mary Buckler, of Sardis; Mrs. Virginia Eckman and Mr. Thomas White, of Ripley, and Mrs. Amanda Owens, of Fleming County. Four children and her husband preceded her to the grave.

SHANNON.

Born, to the wife of Mr. Ben Wood, Friday, December 28th, a daughter—the second of the same sex.

Hiram Dye and wife gave a dinner Saturday last to William B. Hawkins and bride, at which a number of guests were present.

R. F. Gault and W. S. Proctor entertained friends with Christmas dinners.

GERMANTOWN.

Julian Pollock is confined to his bed by typhoid fever.

J. H. Walton and wife have gone to Florida to spend the remainder of the winter.

Chas. Burgess and H. B. Savage are in Robertson County this week hunting quail.

Rev. Rector Savage, of Georgetown, Ky., preached at M. E. Church, South, Sunday night.

Miss Lizzie Patterson, after being on the sick list for some weeks, was able to be out Sunday.

Miss Lullie Myall, of Mayslick, a beautiful brunette, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Hal Dimmitt.

The Sunday schools at the Christian and M. E. Church, South, were bountifully supplied with good things on Sunday last.

George Erion, Jr., and Wm. Wright, of Paris, after spending several days here, have gone in company with Misses Nannie and Hattie Erion, to New Richmond, O., on a visit.

Rev. H. C. Wright will fill his appointment on next Sunday, at which time christian baptism will be administered to the child of Dr. C. C. Coburn.

The pupils of the school manifested their high regard for their teachers, Prof. Hays Thomas and sister, by making each of them a nice Christmas present. They are very popular with their pupils and we have no doubt very deservedly so.

The colored people had quite a serious disturbance at their church in the East End Christmas night, resulting in one, George Woods, being fined $80 and costs, which he paid. James Penn, another of the crowd, was landed in the Bracken County Jail for one and a half months at the expense of our town.

The Virtues of Celery.

Celery is a delicious vegetable, which has been brought to great excellence of late years, and healing virtues are ascribed to it. One of the latest is that it is a cure for rheumatism; indeed, it is asserted that the disease is impossible if the vegetable be cooked and freely eaten. The fact that it is always put on the table raw prevents its therapeutic powers from being known. The celery should be cut into bits, boiled in water until soft and the water drank by the patient. Put new milk, with a little flour and nutmeg, into a saucepan with the boiled celery, serve it warm with pieces of toast, eat it with potatoes and the painful ailment will soon yield. Such is the declaration of a physician who has again and again tried the experiment, and with uniform success. He adds that cold or damp never produces, but simply develops the disease, of which acid blood is the primary and sustaining cause, and that while the blood is alkaline there can be neither rheumatism nor gout. Statistics show that in one year (1878) 2,640 persons died of rheumatism in Great Britain, and every case, it is claimed, might have been cured or prevented by the adoption of the remedy mentioned. At least two-thirds of the cases named heart disease are ascribed to rheumatism and its agonizing ally—gout. Small-pox, so much dreaded, is not half so destructive as rheumatism, which, it is maintained by many physicians, can be prevented by obeying nature's laws in diet. But, if you have incurred it, boiled celery is pronounced unhesitatingly to be a specific. The proper way to eat celery is to have it cooked as a vegetable after the manner above described.

THE DECOLLETE DRESS.

VIEWS OF DR. HOWARD CROSBY GIVEN IN A CANDID STYLE.

Influence Upon Young Girls Brought Up in Society's Whirl—Rather a Severe Comment on Men Who Attend Some Theatres—A Puritan for Himself Only.

The decollete dress now used by women for evening wear is simply an abomination. I will not denounce all the women who wear such dresses as immoral. That would be unfair. But I do contend that they are all shamelessly immodest. I can readily understand how a young girl, brought up in what is known as fashionable society and accustomed from her childhood to the appearance of her mother during the evening in this outrageous costume, should come to regard the exposure of her arms and the upper part of her bosom as eminently proper and modest.

Perhaps she would never think about the matter at all. But this unconsciousness on her part does not make the exposure any the less immodest, any more than the unconsciousness of the native woman of Africa, who appears in a state of nature and walks about in this unhampered condition, robs her exposure of every immodest characteristic. I suppose this comparison will not be considered a fair one by a great many people.

But if the opportunity which a wealthy American girl has for cultivation and refinement is considered, to say nothing of her Christian training, which should be hers, and can be hers for the asking, is considered, which enable her to distinguish between the modest and the immodest, these people will, if they are not biased, admit that the comparison has all the elements of truth. To my mind, there is very little difference between a poor, uneducated African woman with absolutely no perceptions of right and wrong, appearing stark naked, and a Christian woman of the Nineteenth century exposing her breast.

EVIL MINDED MEN.

So much for the immodesty of the question. Its immorality is attributable partly to the women who wear it, but chiefly to the men who countenance and encourage them. The women who eagerly seize on the pretext which this costume affords for the exhibition of their physical attractions for the purpose of capturing the attention of men, thereby knowing full well what the influence of such a display possesses, are, I am very happy to say, in the minority. But they do exist, and the costume in their hands and worn by them is an instrument of the devil. The chief cause of its immorality, however, resides in the filthy imaginations of the men.

All men are more or less immoral in thought, if not in deed, and there is absolutely no exception to this rule. If it is not so, why do men frequent theatres where the exposure of half naked women in tights colored to resemble human flesh is the prevailing and predominant feature of the performances? They go there simply that their unhealthy and uncleanly imaginations may have full play, and if the exhibitions on the stage do not minister to their diseased fancy and appeal to their sexual passions they are voted dull and commonplace and left without patronage.

Nowadays men often frequent drawing rooms for the same reason that they frequent the theatres. There they meet women, their social peers, it is true, dressed, or rather undressed, in evening costume, and find food for their imagination precisely as they do when they attend a ballet or a spectacle. Then comes the talk of the clubs. The bust, the formation of the arms, and the more or less voluptuous curves of the figure, all furnish themes for subsequent comment. The points of a new debutante are estimated by these men during drawing room conversations, with all the care and skill exhibited by an expert in horsemanship, where the merits of a horse are under consideration. And the observations carried away from these drawing rooms are made afterwards the subject of club gossip, and form the basis of comparison when the excellencies of rival beauties happen to be mentioned.

HAS SEEN IT HIMSELF.

If young and innocent girls could but hear the comments and criticisms which are made on their figures by club men around the card rooms and at club windows, and could listen for a moment to the minute analyses which are made of their physical attractions left exposed by reason of the decollete dress, no argument that could possibly be advanced would induce them to continue the wearing of this apparently popular and fashionable garment. And when I speak of the unlicensed way in which men talk in the club rooms, I am not drawing on my imagination. I was 35 years old before I became a minister, and during that time I had ample opportunities for observation, and it is what I saw and heard which now furnishes me the basis for the conclusions I have expressed.

The underlying principle of all nude exhibitions, whether on the public stage or in private life, is dirt. Even if legislative interference were possible, however, in the matter, any attempt to exert it would be foolish. The folly and indecency of the decollete dress have been pointed out by the press and by the pulpit ever since it has been worn, and never with any appreciable good effect. I prefer to let the women who wear them severely alone. If people want to live in pig sties let them live there. For one I would not attempt to compel them to live elsewhere. I am no Puritan except for myself.—Howard Crosby in Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Roman Remains in England.

The removal of an accumulation of soil during the building operations at Mr. Alfred Shuttleworth's mansion, in Eastgate, Lincoln, brought to light a very considerable and important fragment of the eastern wall of the Roman city. This fragment consists of a large quadrangular block of solid masonry, with dressed facing, projecting inward from the wall. It is probably the basement of a quadrangular tower strengthening the wall midway between the northeast angle and the east gateway. Although large portions of the Roman wall exist in other parts of the circuit, this is the only place in which any of the ashlar facing has been found remaining.—London Times.

A New Gas Field Opened.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 2.—A special dispatch from Andover says: Gas and oil has been struck in large quantities near Greenwood, Steuben county, to a depth of about seven hundred feet. Experts pronounce the well the best one in New York state and are confident that a new gas field will be opened up which will supply fuel and light for all adjacent towns. Drilling has been resumed.

A REPORT is in circulation at Louisville that as soon as the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad is opened the Chesapeake and Ohio will abandon its present method of getting into Louisville via Lexington and Frankfort, and would run its trains into that city by way of its new connection going down from Cincinnati by way of the Short Line. General Echols denied that he knew anything of the matter.

A SENSATION was caused in the social circles at Ironton a few days since by the announcement that Miss Nolte, a teacher in the schools at that place, and Morgan R. Watts, a young druggist, were secretly married at Aberdeen Thanksgiving Day. The bride and groom skipped the town and have gone, it is thought, to Atlanta, Ga.

THE hat of R. L. Bowser, the Texas tender of the St. Lawrence, whose body was found in the river below the New Richmond wharfboat October 9th, was discovered yesterday secreted in some bushes. There were blood marks on it. The opinion has always been that Bowser met with foul play. He had stepped off of the boat the day before he met his death for a frolic among the boys.

MASTER BUCKNER WALL was slightly burned about the face and head yesterday at noon by the explosion of a bottle of powder. The accident happened at the family residence on West Second street. It was thought at first that the little fellow was seriously hurt, but an examination by Dr. Adamson, who was hastily summoned, showed that the injuries, although very painful, were not dangerous.

A COLORED man, giving his name as Chase Taylor and representing himself as pastor of a Christian Church here in Maysville, was at Hamilton, O., about one month ago. He appealed to the pastor of the Christian Church of that place, stating he was out of funds and wanted money to enable him to reach home. He had letters purporting to be from well-to-do people of Maysville and succeeded in getting $6 from a member of the church mentioned. Since then nothing has been heard of him. Rev. W. S. Priest received a letter of inquiry this week, in regard to the matter, from the pastor of the church at Hamilton. No such preacher as Taylor is known here, nor is there a colored church of that denomination in Maysville. Taylor is no doubt a first-class pious fraud. He had a girl with him, and represented her to be his daughter.

Card from Deputy Marshal Dawson.

Editor Bulletin: Your report of the capture of the "youthful burglars" in Monday's paper is wrong in this: I am the officer who went to Robinson & Co.'s mill and made the investigation, and discovered the fact that "home talent" executed the job, and so told Mr. Hunter. No other city officer had up to that time presented himself. At about 4 o'clock Sunday evening Reuben Stockdale, son of W. A. Stockdale, saw Charles Wilson in the alley behind Mr. Robert Means' property in the Fifth ward, with another colored man named Lewis Irwin, counting money. W. A. Stockdale, father of Reuben Stockdale, sent my son Charles after myself. I then investigated the case and found that Charles Wilson had more money than he could have properly earned, and at once, with Mr. W. A. Stockdale started in pursuit of Wilson. I sent two men out in the "Wakins' Cut" where I learned Charles and Bob Wilson were.

Before these men reached them, the culprits were advised that I was after them and they at once attempted to make their escape by way of the Fleming turnpike. At about that time Thos. O'Donnell and Tim Archdeacon came into town and informed Captain Hedin that myself and Stockdale were after the parties who committed the robbery. Captain Hedin asked O'Donnell and Archdeacon who the parties were, and, after ascertaining who they were, started in pursuit. It is a mistake that Deputy Fisher went to Lewisburg. He was not in Lewisburg on that occasion.

I do not intend to say or be understood as saying that Captain Hedin or Deputy Fisher were remiss in their duty as officers, but I desire that the facts of this case and the capture of the culprits may be fairly presented. Very truly,
W. B. DAWSON, D. M. C. M.

They All Do It.

[Washington Post.]

There goes a man along the street, Uneasy from his crown to feet, He grabs his arm, he grabs his back, He takes his trousers by the slack, He bends his leg to rub his calf, He frowns when other people laugh, He takes a tree box in his course And uses it as does a horse To scratch himself. He growls a bit, Then thigh and thigh he gives a hit, He asks a friend to scratch his back, He gives his chest a mighty whack, He twists and squirms as if in pain, Then stops to scratch himself again, What ails the man? Why does he swear? He's got on flannel underwear.

Little Doubt Now Entertained in the Matter.

IMPORTANT NEWS BROUGHT BY A GREEK FROM KHARTOUM.

The Mahdi's Forces Twice Defeated—German Newspapers Anticipate Peace During the New Year—Floods in France—Opposing Boulanger—Foreign.

SUAKIM, Jan. 2.—A Greek, who has just arrived here from Khartoum, whence he started two months ago, coming by way of Kassala, says that nothing has been heard at Khartoum of the fall of the government of the equatorial provinces, or of the capture of Emin Bey. On the contrary, he says that the forces of the mahdi had been twice defeated in Bahr Gazel.

The Greek also says that the Mahdists held a council on the situation and decided to withdraw the third expedition and abandon the attempt to conquer the Equatorial provinces.

A Revolutionary Group Formed.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Deputies Cluseret, Ferroul, Pyat and Planteau have formed a revolutionary group, dubbing themselves the Commune. They issued the bombastic manifesto declaring that the commune of 1889 will save the nation and republic by a revolution, and that its principal task is to overthrow Boulanger. The manifesto is generally ridiculed, but adds to the government's difficulty. It is reported that M. Floquet is willing to contest the vacant Paris seat against Boulanger, but M. Clemenceau opposes the proposal.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Eight Buildings Burned at Oscar Beach, N. J.—Other Losses.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Jan. 2.—Fire at Oscar Beach last night destroyed eight buildings, the principal business block of the town. The fire originated in a defective flue in a building on Freeborn avenue, and destroyed that building, a drug store and two cottages belonging to Dr. William L. Kimmouth, and four small stores and a large cottage, owned by Mrs. A. M. Clemens, of Bristol, Pa. Four families were made homeless. The loss is $20,000, half covered by insurance.

The Free Masons, Knights of Pythias, and Odd Fellows lodges lost all their furniture and trapping. The town has no fire department, but a bucket brigade did good work. The line passing buckets was a quarter of a mile long. The fire department of Asbury Park, Ocean Grove and Manasquan responded to calls but arrived too late to be of much service.

A Disastrous Fire.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 2.—A special to the Age-Herald from Decatur, Ala., says: Fire originating in Leonard's saloon, adjoining the Windsor hotel, last night, destroyed eleven new buildings, belonging to the Decatur Land company, and occupied principally by real estate and insurance agents, who lost all their office fixtures. A man named Wood, who was sleeping over Leonard's saloon, was fatally burned while trying to save his clothes. Several other persons sustained more or less serious injuries, and two of them will probably die. The new Windsor hotel was damaged by fire and water. Shipwrecked Sailors Plundered.

The Annie was blown ashore during a severe gale on November 18. The sailors clung to the rigging until morning when they managed to reach shore. They constructed two tents out of the sails, and for nine days lived on the beach from food obtained from the vessel. During the first bushmen plundered them of nearly all of their clothing. The thieves were all big strapping fellows, half naked, and carrying huge knives. They were of all shades of color from pale yellow to jet black. On the 27th a schooner picked them up and took them to Santo Domingo.

Many Methods of Divination.

Until one makes a careful study of this subject, he cannot have any adequate idea of the extent of its ramifications. An old writer enumerates as many as fifty-three methods of divination, some of which—as sciomancy, or divination by shadows; typomancy, or divining by means of the coagulation of cheese, etc.—are obsolete; while others—like chiromancy, or palmistry, onomancy, or dream interpretation, and cleromancy, or casting lots—are still in vogue. Many educated men yet attach importance to the predictions of a horoscope. It will be remembered that in the last volume of the "Life of Lord Lytton" is a curious specimen of one of the author's cast of Lord Beaconsfield, when only Mr. Disraeli. The future life of the great statesman was most accurately predicted, but the brilliant career then foreshadowed appeared so unlikely that Lord Lytton himself seems to have somewhat doubted the fulfillment of his own prophecies.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Justice Should Be for All.

The men of wealth, the men who control these great corporations—these great mills—give millions away in ostentatious charity. They send missionaries to foreign lands. They endow schools and universities and allow the men who earned the surplus to die in want. I believe in no charity that is founded on robbery. I have no admiration for generous highwaymen or extravagant pirates. At the foundation of charity should be justice. Let these men whom others have made wealthy give something to the workmen—something to those who created their fortunes. This would be one step in the right direction. Do not let it be regarded as charity—let it be regarded as justice.—Robert G. Ingersoll in New York World.

The Age of Locomotives.

The average age of locomotives is about twelve years, yet many, through proper habits of living, taking their meals regular and avoiding all intoxicating beverages, attain quite a respectable old age. The oldest running engine in Germany has been on the road since 1845, and is consequently 43 years old—quite a Methuselah, in fact. With regard to its habits, it has always confined itself strictly to water, though it has been addicted to smoking all its life. It is said to see a locomotive grown prematurely old by getting on trains and running all night, but they are often met with in collisions.—Texas Siftings.

German Papers Anticipate Peace.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—The leading German newspapers all express the hope and expectation that 1889 will be a year of peace. The North German Gazette says that the difference between the French and Italian governments with reference to Tunis will not have important results. The same paper praises the Serbian Radicals, who, it says, showed in their action in the Skuptschina that they are capable of forming, and willing to form, a practical policy.
